for trade with the interior of the country would exist, might not increase the trade of this Colony in certain directions more than it would diminish it in others. The question is one of very wide scope, and it is difficult to pronounce a definite view with regard to it, but it is a subject to which it would be desirable that attention should be directed, as it is very likely before long to arise in one form or another for practical consideration. There is one point, on the surface, which would be of much importance in connection with it, namely, that a different effect would be produced by Macao being made a treaty port, and its merely continuing a Portuguese Colony but favoured in its trade by the Chinese Authorities. In the former case, any attempt to place goods coming from Hongkong at a disadvantage with those imported direct would be put down, but if the latter arrangement were come to, it would be quite within the ordinary scope of Chinese tactics to place restrictions upon the purchase of Macao of goods which came from this Colony, for the express purpose of bringing sufficient pressure to bear upon it to induce us to consent to a plan similar to that to which Macao had already agreed, and there are obvious reasons why it might suit the Authorities at Macao to fall in with such a line of action.

Telegraphic communication with Shanghai was re-established yesterday.

We learn by telegram that there has been a hard frost at Shanghai, since the first instant.

The Merchant Marine of Manila, dated 24th December, states that the American ship Oliver, which left that port for Cuba on the 10th of that month, was ashore on the coral bank called Dajun Tujuan, and no hopes were entertained of her being got off. The Captain had arrived safely at Cubat, in a boat, at noon of the 15th.

The following team of the Hongkong Cricket Club, were making, per steamer Shanghai, to Amoy to encounter the Amoy Cricket Club:—W. H. F. Deby, H. C. Cole, Amy, P. H. Foss, J. P. W. Gardner, H. C. to be seen what the effects of it will be. If China's embassies have paid due attention from whatever the result must be of a serious change to their Colonies. I should think it is not impossible that the effect of the proclamation will only be to put down the existing traffic, which is undoubtedly full of abuses, but does not follow that this being accomplished, some more suitable system may not be introduced.

The military hospital of St. Januarius used to be maintained at 2 p.m. on the 6th previous with certain heavy formities, which have been prescribed in the Times.

A pamphlet has just been published in Macao by Mr. Antonio Joaquim Bastos, Jr., in which he takes into consideration the important question of the future of Macao, and advocates the establishment of some fiscal relations with the Chinese Government, in order to secure the payment of the bimonthly sum which is included upon the trade of that port in common with that of Hongkong. The subject is one of some interest at the present time, when the same question in Hongkong has been referred to a Commission. The gist of the writer's views is given in one paragraph, which is to the effect that it is his opinion that the admission of a de�o of the Chinese Government to the port of Macao would be of great service to the inhabitants of that port, and would increase its prosperity, while a persistence in withholding this privilege will end in Macao being deprived of the whole of its commerce.

A correspondent writes that not only has Macao, as has been already mentioned above, been successful in the Manila lottery, by obtaining the first prize of $50,000, but has also obtained the second prize of $20,000, of the same lottery. Macao, who won the above sum, who is employed in a mercantile house here, having come in for a prize of $20,000. The thermometer at Macao on the 3d instant stood at 50 degrees Fahrenheit in the house.

AMOY.

(Frances Herald)

There are reports to the contrary, but according to the information received from Amoy, a maniac, recently arrived from that port, has informed us that in this district several houses have been lost, and that the people are in a state of terror.

SHANGHAI.

The difficulty about the wharves on the French Concession has to be left to serious inconvenience. The Daily News notes that the discussions have led to the resignation of five members of the French Municipal Council, and that Dr. Georges Léonard, the Consul General, has been appointed to fill the vacancy. A Frenchman, recently arrived from that port, has informed us that in this district several houses have been lost, and that the people are in a state of terror.

TIENTSIN.

11th December, 1873.

Since the opening of the port in 1860, trade has wonderfully increased here; and if we had only the means of inland transport the import trade would go on increasing from year to year. The Times quotes the following extract from a speech of Dr. Gallois, in the House of Commons, at present the sole representative of that body:—A notice sent by the Consul General announces an intention to fit the wharves on the 5th inst.

A meeting of the French Council took place on the 23d ult., when a number of interesting matters were discussed by sight forward.

The subject of the Woosung Bar was again raised.

It was decided to make a new channel.

Authorities passed legal information on the subject.

A general inability to take action in regard to the encroachment on the river of the French Bar, was again demonstrated.

The Tientsin agreed to forward the dredge, while the Woosung Bar was to be removed.

The Woosung Bar was again raised.

A notice sent by the Consul General, on the 2d inst., states that the Woosung Bar had been removed.

A notice sent by the Consul General, on the 3d inst., states that a young girl in the first bloom of womanhood, in full bed, was found.

It was to be seen being conveyed up the Maloo on a wheel-barrow, secured by some hundreds of idlers, to the Court. With her snowy red dress and her hair loosely knotted above her head—the inevitable accompaniment of nuptial dresses—she was sent to the court, and taken away.

After the trial, the soldier sent to apprehend the thief, while quivering in the dock, had taken every opportunity to extort money and to oppress the people. "Thus whilst the thief had behaved like a gentleman, the chief catcher had shown themselves to be worse than usual robbers. They had, therefore, caught the gentleman in order to get free from the thief." The judgment of the court is reported, and it is said that any trial reply to the position, but dismissed the Count in silence. Yet his internal reflections might have been, it would be interesting to know.

Very large tank of game which has been made for the Chinese market, and which is to be used for the extraordinary success of sportsmen, up country this year. We have very kindly favoured with the following particulars of the special case we mentioned, which, we are sure, will be thought worthy of record by all local sportsmen in their indispensable "guide," and cannot fail to excite the envy of those who are not so fortunate. Our tank consists of 1,630 feet, made up in 100 yards, 15 feet, 32; Suite, 1; Water-clock, 2; Harem, 9; total, 1,630. The party comprised 6 guns, 1 gun shooting 13 days and 2 guns 10 days. We were absent from Shanghai just three weeks, two of the party returning in advance of the rest, owing to the arrival of the steamer "Taku," which had brought the news of the capture of the city. Sub-chow, in the extreme N.W. of Kuan-hu, which has for two years past been in the hands of insurgents. It is the last remaining stronghold occupied by the Mohammedans "within the walls." The "Taku" had been sent to Shanghai for medical assistance. We found the natives everywhere very civil, though so, in fact, at times, as they interfered with sport by rushing in to retrieve the birds when shot; and when we had occasion to make use of our passports, we found that the "well-minted pencil" inspired the natives with respect, and enabled us to settle some difficult questions without trouble.

NINGPO.

(N. G. Daily News)

Ningpo has been the victim of several robberies of late, and the following account is sufficient to give a slight insight into the way things are managed there. The plundering of a ship sailing to Ningpo had created special excitement, and the thief was traced to a band of rebels, who had been sent to the city by the Chinese Government, in order to assist them in their rebellion against the Mohammedans.

We found the natives everywhere very civil, though so, in fact, at times, as they interfered with sport by rushing in to retrieve the birds when shot;

and when we had occasion to make use of our passports, we found that the "well-minted pencil" inspired the natives with respect, and enabled us to settle some difficult questions without trouble.

For this brilliant achievement the "Viceroy Te

Tan-kang-tung received his nomination to the Cabinet as hien-kuan-hua-kuo, and he is also raised by a step in the hereditary peacock feathers, and appointed to the office of military commander and minister of war.

To effect this victory will have in view, the Chinese Government of variety giving its troops the advantage of high rank.
